Pousada Picinguaba | PARATI | BRAZIL

For as long as you can remember, you have always loved being invited along on one of your parents' special vacations to incredible places all over the world—and now, as an adult, nothing has changed. You have to admit that judging by their destination of choice this time, they have really outdone themselves. You can't help but smile as you think about how perfectly Pousada Picinguaba reflects their tastes and attitude. They have always been hippies at heart, and this gorgeous, luxurious resort that caters to every possible whim but is also eco-friendly—embracing and celebrating nature in a beautiful way—was an obvious choice for them. An outburst of laughter makes you look up from your book and over to where the two of them are sharing some private joke as they swing together in a hammock set against a backdrop of palm trees, sea, and sky. Time for you to head to the private beach you spotted earlier...
